

Lazy Days

Gina Martin*

"Time has fallen asleep in the afternoon sunshine."
- Alexander Smith

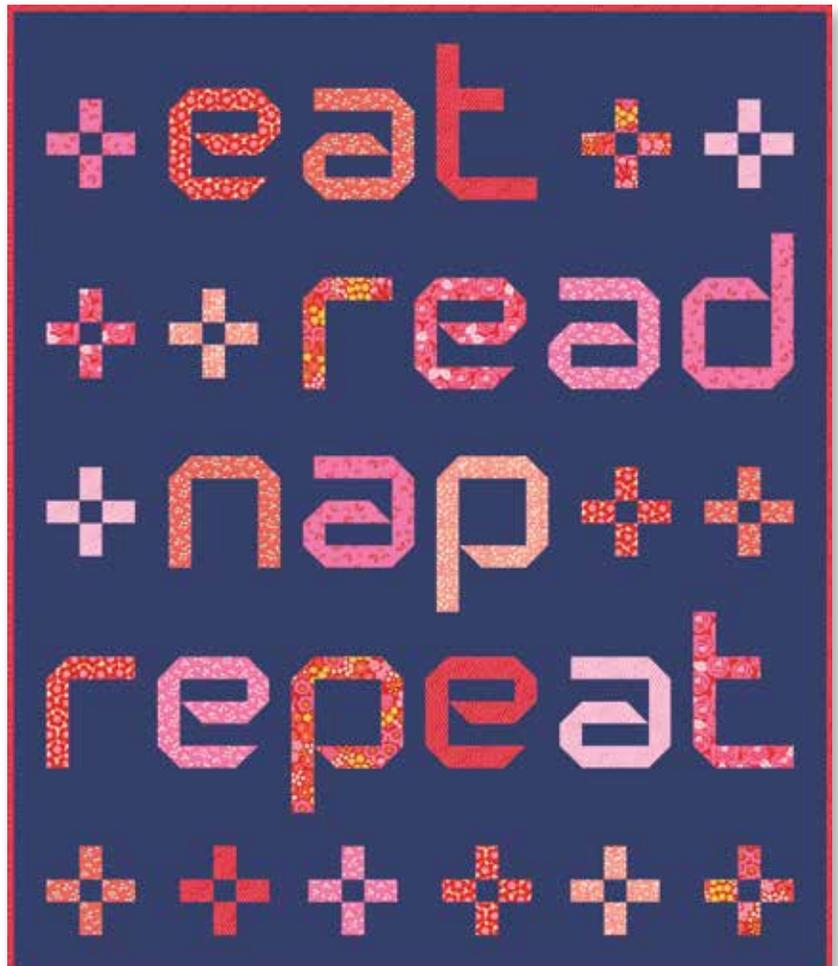

As soon as the weather starts to warm up in spring, I find myself drawn to the comfy chairs on our sunporch where I can wile away the day with a good book, an iced tea, and my pups for company. These days are extra special because they happen so infrequently, and I try not to feel guilty about it. After all, work will always be there. When I look back on my life, I want to remember these sweet times spent just "being".
